Individuals applying for the Rising STARS Tuition Assistance Program will not be asked if they have completed a FAFSA.

Is other financial assistance deducted from the amount of funding I can receive from the Rising STARS Tuition Assistance Program?

Rising STARS Tuition Assistance can only be used for 95% of the cost of tuition. If you are receiving funds that cover the same portion of tuition, those sources must be identified and that amount will be deducted from the eligible Rising STARS Tuition Assistance amount. Effective July 1, 2014, federal Pell Grants do NOT need to be reported, as this aid can be used to cover costs other than tuition.

Is other aid an issue?

Other financial aid that covers the cost of tuition must be reported and will be deducted from the amount of tuition eligible for the Rising STARS Tuition Assistance Program. Effective July 1, 2014, federal Pell Grants do NOT need to be reported, as this aid can be used to cover costs other than tuition.

Will the Rising STARS Tuition Assistance Program pay for developmental courses?

Developmental courses, which prepare students for college-level coursework, are typically not part of a degree program and therefore are not eligible for the Rising STARS Tuition Assistance Program.

My classes run for 7-8 weeks and the cost is $1,800. Will this tuition be covered for the year?

Courses that provide at least one (1) college credit and are conducted by an accredited college/university located in Pennsylvania or a PHEAA-approved online institution can be covered by the Rising STARS Tuition Assistance Program, regardless of the length of time the course runs or the tuition cost.

I am taking classes at a private college and tuition for one three-credit course is more than $4,500. May I apply for 95% of the total tuition cost for a course?

Rising STARS Tuition Assistance covers 95% of the cost of a course, up to a maximum of $4,500. No individual may receive more than $4,500 in Tuition Assistance Program funding during a single fiscal year, regardless of the tuition cost of the particular college a student is attending. If 95% of tuition cost for a single course exceeds $4,500, only $4,500, not the full 95%, will be paid by the Rising STARS Tuition Assistance Program.

How does this affect the Bridge Program?

The business leaders who are supporting the York County Bridge program are aware of the Rising STARS Tuition Assistance Program and all of its features. Any adjustments that are made to that program will be determined by the business leaders who have created that program.

When does the time start for counting the two-month requirement?

The two month commitment begins at the conclusion of the class for which Rising STARS Tuition Assistance was received.

Are recipients of Rising STARS Tuition Assistance required to stay at the facility where they worked when initially applying for the program?

No, it is the intent of this initiative to increase the quality of the Keystone STARS system. There are many circumstances where a Rising STARS Tuition Assistance recipient may choose to move to another facility or employer. (Please remember that the student will need to work at the new legal entity for at least 12 months prior to applying for additional Rising STARS Tuition Assistance funding). The requirement is that for every credit supported by the Rising STARS Tuition Assistance Program, the applicant work in ANY Keystone STARS participating facility for 2 months

Are there circumstances when an applicant may not receive Rising STARS Tuition Assistance?

Yes:

- In the event of requests exceeding the amount of money allocated for this program, applications will be prioritized by the date of submission of a completed application;
- Applicants must meet all the eligibility criteria; and
- The Commonwealth reserves the right to implement additional criteria for approval and/or prioritization in the future.

What if a student fails to complete a course?

If a student withdraws from a course for any reason, they must notify the Keys to Quality system and repay the Rising STARS Tuition Assistance Program amount they received.

Are directors, program administrators, or colleges responsible for notifying the Keys to Quality system when an individual in their employment or college withdraws from a class?

No; this is the responsibility of the individual student.

Are directors and program administrators responsible for repaying the tuition amount if their staff members withdraw from classes midway through the semester?

No.

Are there other supports for students in the Rising STARS Tuition Assistance Program?

For students receiving Rising STARS Tuition Assistance for two or more concurrent classes in the same semester, their program director or administrator can apply for $800 in additional support. These funds must be used in one or more of the following ways:

- Paid release time for a student applicant to attend class
- Paid release time for the student to complete classroom related activities such homework studying or field placement; or
- Cost of substitute coverage while the student is attending classes.

How do directors or program administrators access the Rising STARS Tuition Assistance Program supports?

Program director or administrator must complete an application for this supplemental support. The application for supplemental support funds is posted on the Financial Assistance page of the PA Key website. As part of the application the following information will be required:

- Documentation of the Rising STARS Tuition Assistance Program student's enrollment in two or more classes including the class days and times;
- Plan for paid release time; and
- Demonstrated need for classroom coverage.

Early learning programs in which students utilizing Rising STARS Tuition Assistance are required to take classes on their own time, or where classes are scheduled evenings or weekends and no program release time is needed, will not be eligible to submit for this supplemental support.

If a center has more than one student taking two or more classes, can they apply for the $800 for each one?

Program administrators may apply for the $800 for each student taking two or more classes concurrently as long as they are using the funds as listed above.

When will Directors receive the supplemental payments?

Payments to applicants taking classes will be prioritized for payment/reimbursement first. Applications for support funding will be processed and dispersed based on receipt of the request.

Are directors required to give a bonus after staff earned nine credits?

There is no requirement for a staff bonus or salary increase in the Rising STARS Tuition Assistance Program.

Can I still have my CDA Assessment Fee paid by the Voucher Program?

The Rising STARS Tuition Assistance Program is replacing the College Tuition Reimbursement Voucher Program only. The CDA Assessment Fee Voucher Program will continue to operate as it has been and will pay the CDA Assessment fee directly to the Council for Professional Recognition for approved applicants. The Rising STARS Tuition Assistance Program can be used for college-level CDA coursework.
