

Examining the Pyramid Model

Does it Align?

Read each statement and decide if it aligns with the Pyramid Model.

If you mark no, try to rewrite the statement in the column on the right.

Statement	Does it Align? (Alternate Statement)
1. He knows what to do, he just won't do it.
2. He's had a hard time this week and seems to be getting upset so quickly. I am going to spend some 1:1 time with and really connect.
3. It won't work in our classroom. We have tried all those strategies.
4. My kids are always telling on each other. I need to teach them other ways to solve problems.
5. The parents never follow through with the suggestions we give them.
6. She's hitting her friends when she wants to play with them. Maybe I should teach her how to get her friends' attention and offer play ideas.
7. We are teaching the children to use calm down strategies at school. Maybe we could collaborate with families to identify some calm down strategies that might work for their child at home.
8. All my assistant ever does is clean up after children. He never just plays with the children, nor does he engage in other classroom activities. I don't think he likes being in my classroom.
9. We are talking to the children about calm down strategies. Maybe we should develop some materials to share with families during the upcoming parent conferences.	